Country.

She pulls her scarf a little tighter as the doors close behind her. Her cowboy boots tap softly against the platform, the sound echoing between passing footsteps. In the distance, voices drift by, but the noise feels far away. The fringes of her coat sway with each step, lightly dancing in the wind, just like they used to back on the yard. She still feels the calm of the journey in her legs, a quiet pause before moving on. She takes a deep breath, casts one last glance over her shoulder and walks on, her bag swinging rhythmically at her side.

Illusion.

She runs her fingers over the pattern and believes it moves. Lines that seem to dance, shapes that shift as she watches. What you see changes with every angle, every light, every movement. When she pulls her hand away, everything is still. Inspired by Illusion captures that moment, the play between what is there and what you think you see. She smiles. Inspired by Illusion: a collection that plays not only with your eyes, but with your imagination.

Next Navajo.

She grew up in the heart of the American Southwest, surrounded by scenery with majestic red rock formations, grazing alpacas and vast turquoise blue skies that never ceased to amaze her. One day, she decided to leave her village and explore the modern cities. She carefully chose a beautiful shoulder strap, hand-woven by local artisans, and paired it with a modern leather bag. It was a bridge between her past and her future, a symbol of pride.
